Batting Rule

- (a) Each team will bat 9 batters per inning in the order listed on their lineup. If a team has more than 9 players, the 10th batter in the lineup will be the 1st batter in the next inning half for that team, and so on...
- (b) The inning half will end whenever the offensive team scores 7 runs, or has batted 9 players.
- (c) The offensive teams coach will tell the defensive teams coach when the 9th batter is coming to the plate. At that point, it is treated as if there are 2 outs and the inning half will end when any one of the following occurs; the batter strikes out, an out is made in the field, or a defensive player steps on home plate with the ball in their control or any other situation that constitutes an out called by the umpire.
- In Rookie and Farm League, the offensive batter will receive five (5) pitches before being declared out.
    1. He will be called out on three (3) swinging strikes.
    2. If the fifth (5) pitch is fouled, he may continue to bat until he either strikes out or puts the ball in play.
    3. If the fifth (5) pitch is fouled and caught it is an out.

Note: If a player cannot bat in his “slot” for any reason, an “at bat/out” will be recorded and the at bat will be included in the 9 batter total for that inning. If this situation happens to be on the 9th batter of any inning the batter will be called out and the inning half will be over.

Catchers

Catchers are optional. Whether a catcher is used or not, the offensive team will have a “catching coach” behind home plate to help retrieve pitched balls and get them back to the pitching coach in order to keep the game flowing. If the defense has a catcher they will stand behind the catcher, if they don’t then they can assume the position of the catcher behind the plate. The “catching coach” cannot coach players, however, they are allowed help align a batter in the box if needed prior to the pitch. Once a ball is hit the catching coach must position themselves out of the way in order to not interfere with any play.

Note: The catchers must wear full catchers gear including a protective cup.

- No bunting will be allowed in Rookie League
- 1 defensive coach will be allowed to stand on each side, outside the right and left field foul lines, 10 feet behind the first and third base coach’s box.
- No batting tee will be used.
- A ball thrown from an infield position towards first base in an attempt to get the batter out that is overthrown to the first baseman and goes past the 3 foot running lane is considered a dead ball at this point. All runners will be allowed one additional base. The ball must go past the 3 foot running lane line to be considered an overthrow. The 3-foot running lane should be run 10 feet past the bag. Exception: on last batter.
